SMS Marketing

txt4ever* provides a range of innovative solutions for direct marketing to mobile

SMS Marketing is a powerful and exciting tool for direct marketing.

No other medium has the ability to deliver a message so precisely to the intended audience and have that message read.

Whilst email can deliver a message to a targeted audience, the opening rates for marketing emails are very low. SMS gives a much higher level of reading and response rates. What's more, campaigns are delivered instantly to the intended recipient who will usually read it immediately.

txt4ever gives businesses or organisations all the tools needed to quickly set up and manage sms and mobile marketing campaigns.

Our tools include:

- Subscription list management
- Shortcodes and keywords for inbound messages
- Automated replies
- MultiMedia file sending
- Website integration
- Digital Vouchers/Mobile Ticketing
- Low cost SMS via our economy route

txt4ever* was used by a London-based advertising agency as part of an alcohol awareness campaign
'Using txt4ever gave us the facility to run a direct and highly targeted campaign. The system was integrated to our promotional website, and the timed reminders meant that we could send messages at the optimal time.'

We regularly undertake surveys to both our clients and mobile users. These surveys give valuable insight which enables us to offer our clients the most effective mobile strategy.

txt4ever* is used by a high street bank to send customer feedback to their managers. Satisfaction ratings collected from terminals inside each branch are daily by SMS to the respective manager through an automated system.

Emergencies and Business Continuity

txt4ever* is the essential tool for business text messaging

What will your company do in an emergency?

How will you get in touch with your staff?

How will you tell customers of your plans?

txt4ever offers a low cost, simple solution to send and manage emergencies through text messaging

SMS emergency planning How it works

- Upload your emergency numbers to a contact list:
These can be stored in different groups, for example different locations or departments
- Write your message, or insert a template message that you have previously created
- Select the group or groups you want to message
- Send the message
- View message reports which will show delivered and pending messages
- All the information and message reports can be exported as a data file for future reference txt4ever can message to any mobile phone worldwide, so whether you are contacting staff in the UK or overseas office it's just one simple message. txt4ever is a Web to Mobile SMS system which means that it can be used from anywhere. In an emergency messages can be sent from any internet connect PC or phone, from anywhere in the world.

The local education authority in one London borough has been using txt4ever as a key tool in their emergency management strategy. Facilities such as notifying parents of school closures, or contacting all of the staff in one building have proved to be extremely useful in managing emergencies.

Appointment Reminders by Text Message

txt4ever* Appointment SMS Reminder System

Missed appointments are a cost to businesses and organisations. It is estimated that within the NHS the cost is over £120 each time.

A typical dental practice receptionist may spend up to 2 hours each day phoning clients to remind them of appointments - our text message system reduces this to just five minutes at any time during the day.

Any business that relies on people meeting appointments can benefit from our text reminder system.

The txt4ever Appointment Reminder System is easy to use and can be fully customised.

Sending text reminders has been shown to reduce missed appointments at anywhere between 40 and 80%.

txt4ever* is used by both large organisations, such as health authorities, and small practices, such as GP's offices to reduce the number of missed appointments. Other sectors, such as recruitment and events management companies have also found SMS reminders useful for client contact and improving take up rates.
